To unmoor. Getting under way from a single anchor. To cat and fish. To get under way with a wind blowing directly out, and riding head la it;--with a rock or shoal close astern ;--when riding head to wind and tide, and to stand out close-hauled;--wind-rode, with a weather tide;-- tide-rode, casting to windward;--tide-rode, wearing round. Unmoor. --Pay out on your riding cable, heaving in the slack of the other. When the other is short, trip it, cat and fish, and heave in on your riding cable. Instead of this method, the anchor which you are not riding by may be weighed, if it is a small one, by the long boat. Send the long boat out over the anchor, take aboard the buoy-rope, carrying it over the roller in the boats stern, or through the end of a davit, clap the watch-tackle to it, and weigh it out of the ground. This done, and the buoy-rope and tackle secured to the boat, heave in on the chain on board, which will bring the anchor alongside, the boat approaching at the same time. When under the bow, cast off the fasts to the boat, heave up the anchor, cat and fish. Getting Under Way From A Single Anchor. --It is the duty of the chief mate to see all ready forward for getting under way; the rigging fair for making sail, the cat and fishtackles rove, and...
